Published by James MacLeod and Francis Orr & Sons, Glasgow. (1848)

The People's Atlas, Shewing The Relative Extent And Divisions, The Boundaries, And Other Geographical Details Of The Various Empires, States, And Quarters Of The World, Agreeably To The Best Authorities, And In Accordance With A Comparative View Of The Heights Of Hills And Lengths Of Rivers, Revised By J. Lothian. Glasgow: James Macleod, 20 Argyle Street, And Francis Orr & Sons, William Tait, Edinburgh; Simpkin, Marshall, & Co. London; A. Heywood, Manchester; And J. Cumming, Dublin. MDCCCXLVIII.

Note: John Lothian was an Edinburgh geographer and publisher who issued atlases of Scotland and its counties from 1825 to 1835, and a General Atlas in 1834 (R. Baskes). Tooley and British Museum list and 1846 edition of this atlas, probably the first. This 1848 second edition is a late production for Lothian, engraved in the style of the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge (SDUK), but lithographed, with considerably less detail.
